

LISTEN, WE COLLECT certain information about you when you choose to join our club.

We'll ask for your mailing address, email address and a cell phone number at that time.

We don't use that information for any purpose other than to contact you about club activities, or well-filtered community beer events that we think you as a member might be interested in. If at any time you feel like we are overdoing it or abusing this privilege to your personal information, you can tell us to knock it off and we will do so directly.

We never, ever give out, sell, rent or otherwise disclose your info to any third party, even if they offer us large sums of cash or threaten us with deadly weapons*. Your information is safe with us. It is gathered strictly that we may communicate with you for the purpose of sharing club activity information.

If you ever decide that we are not in alignment with your definition of this agreement, you may notify us to cease and desist and we will happily do so post haste.

We respect you. We're happy you want to be a part of our club and we just want your permission to contact you about stuff that we're up to. We appreciate you entrusting use with your personal information and we will treat it with the same respect as we would have you do our own.

Any questions or complaints about the way this policy is implemented should be directed to our permanent club email address: lancasterbrewers@gmail.com.

Deadly weapons include any use or threat of force or physical violence - including but not limited to - pummelings, beatings, floggings, assault by motor vehicle or other appliance, closely-applied halitosis, nuggies or forced imbibement of unpalatable beer.*
